'GREAT EXPECTATIONS'

The four years of high school comprise an eventful chapter in the "Book of Life." In Dickens' "Great Expectations," Pip tells of a valuable experience: "I held tight to the leg of the table, under the cloth, with both hands, and awaited my fate." Freshmen feel the same as Pip did—frightened, holding "tight to the leg of the table."

Taking weeks, sometimes months, freshmen remain hidden "under the cloth" until they feel more secure about their new world. Coming out from "under the cloth," freshmen begin to realize the value of joining activities and clubs and of becoming acquainted with the faculty.

During their sophomore and junior years, students who once were timid freshmen become bolder and more mature. With their activity list and academic load growing, students fall into the rush of high school life. As their junior year slowly draws to a close, students look with expectations toward their senior year. On becoming seniors, students are usually completely out from "under the cloth," anticipating graduation.

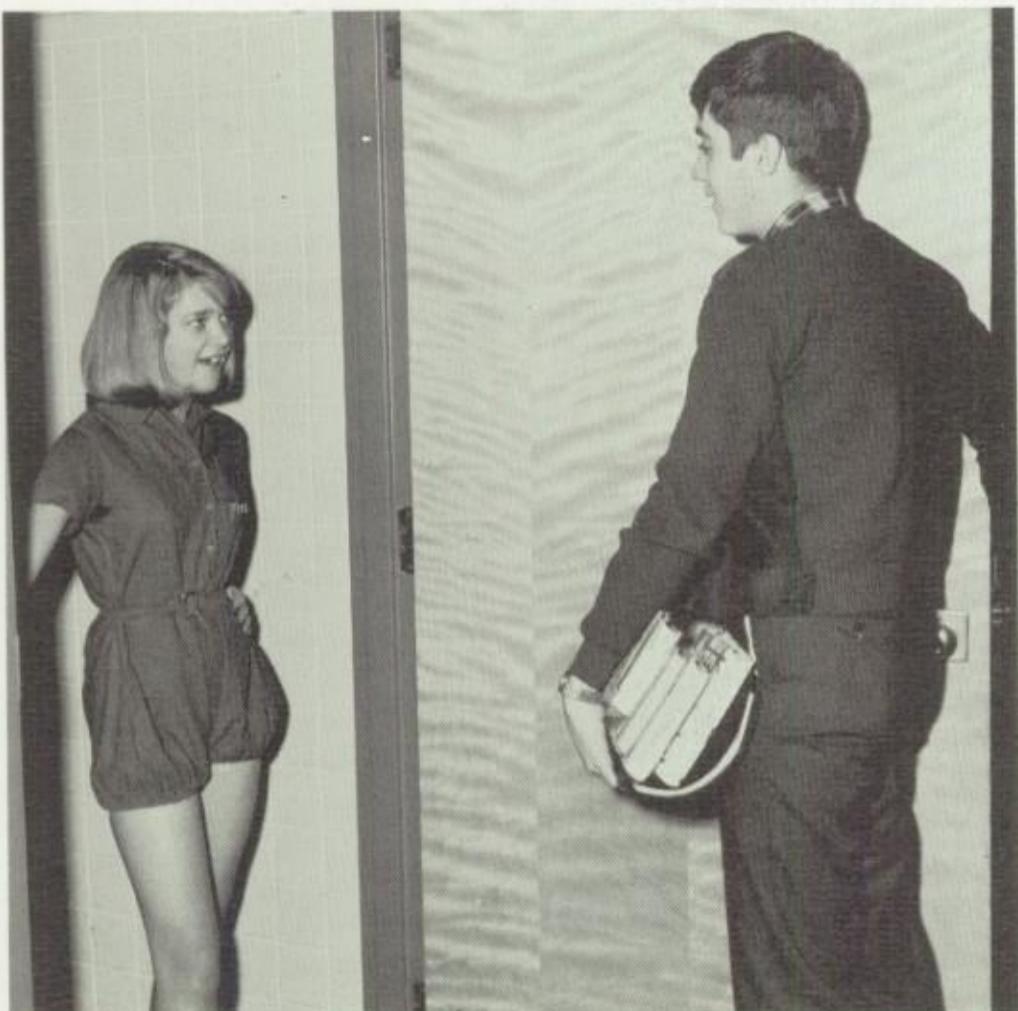

One chapter in the "Book of Life" having been completed, young men and women look forward with "great expectations" to the unfolding of future chapters.

DEDICATION

The raw essential of leadership is character. A leader must have the self-respect and character to see a difficult job completed. He must have the courage to accept responsibility for his mistakes and the humility to withstand praise for his successes. A leader dares to be different; he does what is right, not what is easy.

Norwood High School's chief administrator has the essentials of a leader plus the warmth of a humanitarian. For his qualities of leadership, his consideration and understanding of others, and his sense of humor, the staff dedicates the 1967 SILHOUETTE to Mr. Albert Geselbracht.

Freshmen live in a world of puzzling doors. Cautiously opening the first doors, freshmen often discover frightening and confusing interiors. Slowly gaining confidence with experience, maturing freshmen anticipate the privileges and trials of being sophomores and juniors.

Teachers devote themselves to informing and improving their students. Patiently and diligently, they strive to create a curiosity for learning and a lively interest in education. Before beginning their job, teachers must gain each student's respect and attention. Sometimes results come slowly, but teachers must continue in their educational endeavor. Finally, after continued patience, teachers may look forward to the satisfying reward of seeing their students grasp some idea or grow in understanding. Satisfied teachers are indicative of eager students.

It is the goal of the high school curriculum to produce academically well-rounded students. Students are given every opportunity to gain knowledge and to keep abreast of modern advances. Able to choose from general, vocational, commercial, or college preparatory courses, students decide upon a plan of study for their future.

The school tries to provide students with the best possible tools of learning. Books are available not only in classrooms and the library, but also through the convenient paperback bookstore. Still in experimental stages, the humanities program presents to seniors speakers of various creeds, religious callings, and professions. The educational television system and the IBM equipment are innovations which aid students in their academic endeavor.

Even with the most modern equipment and improved tools to aid them, students must rely on their own initiative and use time wisely for studying. Students can look forward to honor and recognition for academic achievement, but the greatest reward is satisfaction within.

An effective sports program unites the student body in support of a common cause—its team. Competitive sports create in the individual players a sense of pride which enhances their desire to play well. By endeavoring to do their best the players meet the expectations of demanding coaches. Practicing and performing with determination, the players radiate their own sense of pride and accomplishment to an appreciative student body.

Activities decrease the hum-drum of school routine. Not only do students anticipate activities scheduled by the various clubs, but they also look forward to weekend parties and dates.

Graduating seniors leave a comfortable world of security and familiar faces. Shutting high school doors behind them, the graduates go forth in diverse directions. Many pursue further education in preparation for carefully chosen careers. Others take jobs for which they have some special skill. Although they have chosen varied walks of life, the graduates are unified in their uncertainty of stepping into a new world.

A mind's walk into the future . . .

Chapter I
Faculty

"His spirit inspired me with great respect."

Students appreciate teachers who are truly people, not merely machines imparting knowledge in an impersonal way.

A teacher must not use the same method of instruction every day, lest his students become bored. Instead he must devise new methods of teaching which will arouse interest and enthusiasm in his class.

Besides needing a variety of teaching methods, a teacher must give of his time. A good teacher should be willing to stay after school not only to punish wanton students, but also to aid them with some classroom or personal problem.

Thirdly, and most important, a teacher must give freely of himself. He must project his personality into his teaching and establish himself as a person that a student may look up to. At times he may have to be a friend or cohort to some lonely student, but all the while a teacher must maintain the respect of this student.

Any teacher may be proud if his students are honestly able to say of him as Pip did in "Great Expectations," "His spirit inspired me with great respect."

Mr. Dorl; Mr. Beckstedt; Mr. Parsons, Superintendent; Mr. Downs; Mr. Funk; Dr. Gabe.

Board climaxes long season of planning with television system.

Functioning in numerous capacities, the Norwood Board of Education assumes the many responsibilities accompanying the operating and maintaining of the six Norwood public schools. Adopting the annual budget, employing faculty members, and appraising school educational achievements are among Board functions. Passing upon the recommendations of superintendent Mr. Brooks Parsons, the Board determines all questions of policy and informs the public concerning the progress and needs of the schools. During the past two years the Board has approved several new projects. A job-opportunity program for high school students has already proved successful. A closed circuit television system with a fully equipped studio provides educational programs supplementing classroom material.

Mr. Albert Geselbracht, Principal.

School commanders pass laws, regulate N.H.S. control panel.

Patience and efficiency characterize the five members of Norwood High School's administrative staff who together keep the Norwood teepee functioning from day to day. In the capable hands of Norwood's chief administrator, principal Albert Geselbracht, rests direct responsibility for the welfare of over 1400 students. His many thankless duties include supervising the teaching staff and enforcing school policy. Aside from maintaining student discipline, assistant principal Lowell Anderson serves as advisor to Student Council and the junior class. A familiar face to students in the technical building is assistant principal Elton Kistler, who supervises both the evening classes and the Vocational School. Student co-ordinator Miss Nell Griffin commands the school calendar, keeping activity conflicts to a minimum. The authority on employment, colleges, scholarships, and testing is Miss Florence Nolte, senior counselor. Working with five other counselors who advise the elementary schools, she helps the seniors prepare for their important steps to adulthood.

Chapter II

Academics

"Through good and evil I stuck to my books."

The major function of the school is to offer students academic advantages. As the four years of high school progress, the students' academic load grows heavier and heavier.

Although the school places a great deal of emphasis on academics, the major responsibility of education lies with the students. Students must possess a genuine desire to learn and to make use of the many educational opportunities offered by the school. Interest in studies, offset by initiative, determines whether students will search for and acquire knowledge on their own or just sit back and take what others have to offer.

Students learn not only in the classroom, but also through various clubs and organizations. Some clubs stress academics as a qualification for membership, while others combine studies and learning with a group organization. Any student will receive great satisfaction if at the end of his high school years he can say as Pip did in "Great Expectations," "Through good and evil I stuck to my books."

Student Council

Plunging headlong into new activities requiring co-operation and hard work, this year's Student Council, headed by Gary Conley, proved the value of such an organization by tackling a mammoth service project to be completed in about two years. Assisted by Mr. Lowell Anderson, the group consisting of homeroom representatives and elected officers, met every Wednesday before school for the purpose of finding possible solutions to school problems and performing worthwhile services to the school or the community.

To fulfill the school-to-school project plan, Student Council began to raise money for the building of a school in an underdeveloped area of the world. This school, when completed, will be named for the Norwood school system. To raise money for their school, the council sponsored a dance after the first football game. Later in the fall they called upon the entire student body to participate in a two-day paper drive. In the spring Student Council further boosted funds by sponsoring a "slave day." On "slave day" students volunteered to do odd jobs around the community. All money earned by the "slaves" was donated to the council for use in the school-to-school project.

Aside from this major project, Student Council participated in other activities as well. One unusual activity of council members was that of acting as judges in the road rodeo sponsored by the Greater Cincinnati Safety League.

1967 SILHOUETTE Staff

From a tiny, potent seed planted in June, 1966, by Janet Zimmerman and Gary Conley grew our hopeful "pip," this 1966-67 SILHOUETTE, to the success of its "great expectations." Through the crucial first stage of its development they painstakingly nursed the plant to its budding. New caretakers, co-editors Donna Moerlein and Linda Morgan, after pruning and grafting to the plant some original stems of thought, with help from Miss Shirley Smith brought it through adolescence to maturity. This yearbook is the puissant fruit of their labors.

This SILHOUETTE encountered many obstacles often halting its growth. Deadlines proved the worst enemy. Faulty counting of characters developed into a near-catastrophe for co-literary editors Carol Bruetting and Sharon Freyhof, who rewrote some stories as many as three times. Mistakes made with the indispensable cropping wheel engendered calamitous problems for photographs. Working their hardest under tension, however, the staff miraculously defeated these discouraging deterrents. The enlistment of aid from junior staff members who collected information and from club, index, G.A.A., and senior-faculty portrait editors relieved the editors-in-chief of much necessary time-consuming work.

As "great oaks from little acorns grow," so did this SILHOUETTE blossom and bear fruit. The fruit is now displayed for criticism. Its success or failure rests with the tasters.

Mirror Staff

Probably the most consistently busy group of students at Norwood High School was the staff of the school newspaper, the Mirror. Under Mr. Thomas Cahill's supervision, the staff managed to publish throughout the school year twenty-five issues of their paper, including the special eight-page Christmas and graduation issues. "A Reflection of Norwood High School," the Mirror aimed at accurately reporting about all events involving Norwood students.

The planning of the various issues of the Mirror often necessitated foresight on the part of editor-in-chief Joyce Chesney, for each paper had to be prepared at least two weeks in advance of the final distribution. After collecting news, typing stories, reading copy, and devising headlines, the staff sent the articles to the printer on Wednesday. The printer returned all proofs on Friday. Then, because the copy was returned on long strips of paper, the page editors cut the stories apart and pasted them in their respective page positions. When the final papers returned from the printer the following week, the staff carefully checked for errors and folded and counted them for distribution.

At the annual Mirror banquet held in May, the hard-working staff members were commended for their exceptional work and the staff for 1967-68 was announced by Mr. Cahill. The new staff was selected from students learning the fundamentals of newspaper writing in the journalism classes.

National Honor Society

The keystone, symbolizing the guiding principles of scholarship, leadership, service, and character held the flaming torch from which forty-five students this year kindled the fires of their candles, signifying their acceptance into the Norwood Chapter of the National Honor Society. Selected by the faculty, the group represented the most well-rounded scholars of the junior and senior classes. During an impressive induction ceremony new members pledged to uphold the standards of the society. This year advisor Miss Mariel Sayre presented to Carol Bruetting and Jim Coy special recognition emblems for exemplifying "beyond-the-call-of-duty" these principles.

National Honor Society as a service organization contributed much to Norwood High School through a student tutoring program. Under this project, members donated their time during study halls and after school for students needing study help. The awarding of home-room scholarship banners was another activity of the society.

The highest tribute that can be paid any high school student, acceptance into National Honor Society signifies a large step towards the attainment of "great expectations."

Girls' Council

While fulfilling its traditional duties of planning the Red Flannels Day and Cotton Day programs and formulating and distributing Thanksgiving baskets, the Girls' Council this year added to its activity roster the establishing of a "big sister" program designed to aid freshmen unaccustomed to Norwood High School life. In variance with former policies also was the council's decision to combine the annual Girls' Week with Boys' Week for a successful week of co-ed fun.

Projectionists

The "sight and sound" boys of Projectionists Club provided a service to the school by operating the films and records which comprise Norwood's audio-visual aids program. Taught by Mr. David Norcross, the juniors and seniors learned to operate projectors, tape recorders, and record players and to handle problems, such as replacing bulbs and splicing broken films. The spring picnic thanked the boys for their services.

Spanish Club

A taste of Spanish living was afforded Spanish Club members this year at a dinner held in the spring. Classroom formalities were forgotten while students learned Spanish customs in this extremely delicious, educative manner. They celebrated Christmas similarly at a fiesta highlighted by food, party games, and door-prizes donated by Mr. Merrill Wynn, advisor. Extending holiday cheer to the needy, the club sent toys to orphan children.

Hard-working second, third, and fourth year Spanish students with at least a B+ grade average in the language course found their efforts rewarded with their acceptance into Norwood High School's "Amado Nervo" Chapter of National Spanish Honor Society. The students were received into the organization and awarded their membership certificates during a formal induction ceremony which followed the annual initiation dinner.

Latin Clubs

Latin Club members and alumni donned traditional Roman togas and sandals for their annual spring banquet March 15. This gala affair, chaperoned by Miss Eileen Parris, the club advisor, occurred appropriately enough on the Ides of March to commemorate the assassination of the "noblest Roman of them all"—Julius Caesar. Money-making projects throughout the year that helped to pay expenses for table decorations and food, prepared by students themselves, consisted of bake sales and candy apple sales. Monthly meetings and elaborate planning enabled members to relax and enjoy this successful affair. Entertainment and a prize for the best Roman costume completed the memorable evening of pleasure as the students revived the traditions and customs of the ancient classical world in hopes of a better understanding of yesteryear and its influence on the present.

French Clubs

Collecting dues and selling Norwood High School stationery were the financial aids that enabled French Club to complete its unusual and worthwhile program of philanthropy and responsibility. Rather than being merely a club for enjoyment and benefit of the members only, this group undertook the adoption and support of a needy French girl. Obviously the enthusiasm of their sponsor Mrs. Diane Karampas intensified the interest in the challenge presented by this humanitarian act. Because no comprehensive language program can be completed without learning of the customs and traditions of the people themselves, the club functioned to provide this opportunity. At the Awards Assembly at the close of the year three outstanding French students received medals and a one-year membership in Alliance Française as rewards for excelling in scholarship.

National Thespian Society

Participation in the many phases of stage craft rendered students eligible for membership in the newly-formed Troupe 2838 of the National Thespian Society. Under the aegis of Mrs. Lindsay Buchy, the theater group presented to the Norwood audience significant cuttings from five dramas: Ah, Wilderness!; Anastasia; Bell, Book, and Candle; Our Town; and The Miracle Worker. Senior members competed for the "Best Thespian" awards.

Varsity Debaters

Intensive research on current events and a knowledgeable grasp of public speaking proved to Norwood High School's Varsity Debaters to be the essential elements necessary for a winning debating team. Encouraged by their energetic and enthusiastic coach, Mrs. Margaret Carlton, members this year tested their oratory prowess and sharpened their wits by participating with other Greater Cincinnati high schools in forensic competition.

Future Teachers

Planning and preparing for an active year for Future Teachers of America began in August. Miss Betty Ware and Mr. Lynn Adams, able and efficient advisors for the group, supervised the club's first official function—serving the Norwood Teachers' Association luncheon for new teachers. Making and selling doughnuts at Open House was not only for fun but a profitable venture. Programs stressed problems and solutions on all teaching levels.

Health Careers

A bowling party and fall picnic greeted prospective and new members of Health Careers Club. Lectures, movies, and speakers emphasized various opportunities available to those interested in pursuing a career in this field. Members visited hospital wards and made tray favors for patients. Mrs. Margaret Hatfield, school nurse and club advisor, provided helpful advice while setting an excellent example of the fine qualities needed by all future nurses.

Junior-Senior Cosmetology Club

Upon entering the cosmetology department as novice juniors, Norwood High School's preparatory beauticians soon found that beauty culture involves more than merely the setting and styling of hair. Studying science, mathematics, and trade, the students learned much about the extensive field of cosmetology long before beginning to test their skills on paying customers. Spending every day in the shop not only gave them experience but added to the large sum of hours accumulated necessary for them to take their state board license examinations. Proficiency in hair styling resulted in before-graduation job placement for most senior cosmetologists. Through the paying of dues and selling of candy, the members of the cosmetology club raised funds to give a Christmas party for underprivileged children and to finance their trip to Columbus in the spring.

Junior Auto Shop

The mechanics of the junior auto shop gained the theoretical background and some of the mechanical experience necessary in preparation for the practical application of their training in senior auto shop the following year. The students spent their five-hour day in the classroom learning the fundamental facts about automobiles and shop trade. They then partially applied their knowledge to a useful purpose by working on engines in the shop.

Senior Auto Shop

Using the technical knowledge acquired during their first year of training, the boys of senior auto shop completed their automobile course by servicing cars of the faculty, students, and community citizens. The students thus gained mechanical experience while performing a public service. In addition to working in the shop, they continued and supplemented their junior training with the study of auto science, mathematics, and trade information.

Electricity Club

Hopeful future technicians of Electricity Club found at Norwood High School excellent opportunity for the application of classroom learning. Decorating the school at Christmas, wiring the auditorium and the loud speakers, and lighting the football field gave the boys electrical experience while providing "sparks" of beauty and helpful assistance. Directed by Mr. George White, the group sponsored projects to aid needy families.

Machine Shop

Constant change in a modern jet-age world necessitated the return of Machine Shop to Norwood High School after a one-year's absence. The knowledge that automation quickly replaced much man-power in industry caused active mechanically minded boys to consider a future in operating, making, and repairing the machines that do the work. Mr. Everett Sherer, with the aid of new equipment, prepared the group for post-high school careers.

Distributive Co-ops

Prospective merchants and salespeople learned trade techniques and experienced the challenge of retail and wholesale selling while working as distributive co-ops. Mr. Kenneth Sheppard, their advisor, coordinated the activities of the co-ops to include instruction in all necessary phases of sales and merchandising. In addition to working in local stores, the students learned to employ the art principles of design in dressing display windows.

Commercial Co-ops

Experience in business procedures and a chance to earn extra money were among the benefits Norwood High School's part-time students were afforded during their senior year as commercial co-ops. At their annual employer-employee banquet, the co-ops had the opportunity to express their appreciation to their bosses and their advisor and instructor Mr. Jacque Dietz for instruction and encouragement rendered throughout the year.

Cuisine Club

Tantalizing aromas drifting from the kitchen throughout the entire building constantly reminded hungry teachers and students that the energetic chefs of Cuisine Club were serving in the Tea Room. Many long hours under the close supervision of Mr. Robert Haines proved worth the effort as the eye-pleasing, taste-satisfying results were displayed. Christmas luncheon and spring buffet brought many guests from Cincinnati restaurants and hotels who eagerly had awaited invitations to taste the meals as many co-ops were already employed by them.

Useful skill of cooking and artistic skills of ice-carving and table displays provided a background of work experience unrivaled in Cincinnati. Gourmet cooking and army fare received attention as these boys learned to prepare for all future job possibilities. Bake sales delighted customers as the club reaped profits for the treasury.

Chapter III

Activities

"I have been bent and broken, but I hope into a better shape."

Without activities school work would become routine and boring. Extra-curricular activities create the variety which eliminates the tiring and unchanging atmosphere of the classroom.

Activities give students an opportunity to gain experience in the social aspect of life. Participation in school functions helps students to meet new people and make new friends. Together with their new friends, students begin to feel more a part of their school and to gain a sense of belonging.

Activities serve to illustrate the importance of cooperation, for no event would be a success if individual ideas could not be made into a workable plan of operation. They teach students the invaluable lesson of assuming a certain amount of responsibility without always being the boss. However, activities help students who have leader potentiality to develop this characteristic.

"After four years of participating in activities, students should be able to say as Dickens said, "I have been bent and broken, but I hope into a better shape."

Enthusiastic Pep Club members work to instill school spirit.

"Where are the magic markers?" was the perpetual cry of spirited Pep Club members involved in making posters to drum up enthusiasm prior to each football and basketball game. Red and blue days, trimmings on goal posts, and decorations on fieldhouse walls all combined to instill school spirit in the Norwood High School student body. Although the best-laid plans of Pep Club and advisor Mrs. Dorothy Bruetting for a pep rally and bonfire were drowned out by the unbelievably rainy fall weather, the group held "Honor and Athletes Day" indoors. Because many players were never recognized off the field and out of uniform, committees led by the cheerleaders cut out, personalized, and distributed to the athletes paper footballs and track shoes to be worn as identification tags.

From the shortest performance for the P.T.A. to the elaborate production at Christmas time, the Norwood High School choir gave nothing but its best effort for each of its many presentations throughout the school year. Practice during school hours teamed with additional rehearsals before school helped to strengthen individual parts for the final effect of harmonious blend. With each performance, choir contributed to the advancement of beauty at Norwood High School.

This lively organization kept busy all year performing for many school assemblies as well as for church organization meetings and services. Providing music appropriate for the various occasions necessitated the keeping of choir's repertoire flexible, and members learned to sing everything from somber, sacred anthems to snappy show tunes.

Although the penny box was passed daily for contributions, most of choir's funds came from the annual sale of Better Bars, and competitive selling for cash prizes quickly gave the organization the money to buy much-needed music.

Girls' and boys' glee clubs combine tones for balanced effect.

Exemplifying the traditional elegant sweetness of fe-male harmony, the ninety members of the Girls' Glee Club, under the direction of Mr. Patrick Ratchen, blend-ed their voices this year to embellish several musical programs and school assemblies. The spawning ground for future choir members, the organization added an ethereal atmosphere and melodious color to the Christmas program, the Patriotic Assembly, and the Spring Concert.

The deep resonance of fifty hearty male voices re-verberated through the halls of Norwood High School this year every Tuesday and Thursday morning before school as the Boys' Glee Club prepared for its several performances for the high school audiences. Directed by Mr. Patrick Ratchen, the group balanced with their masculine voices the higher feminine sounds of the girls for the total effect of both vocal unity and dynamic contrast.

Ensemble and orchestra entertain for school functions.

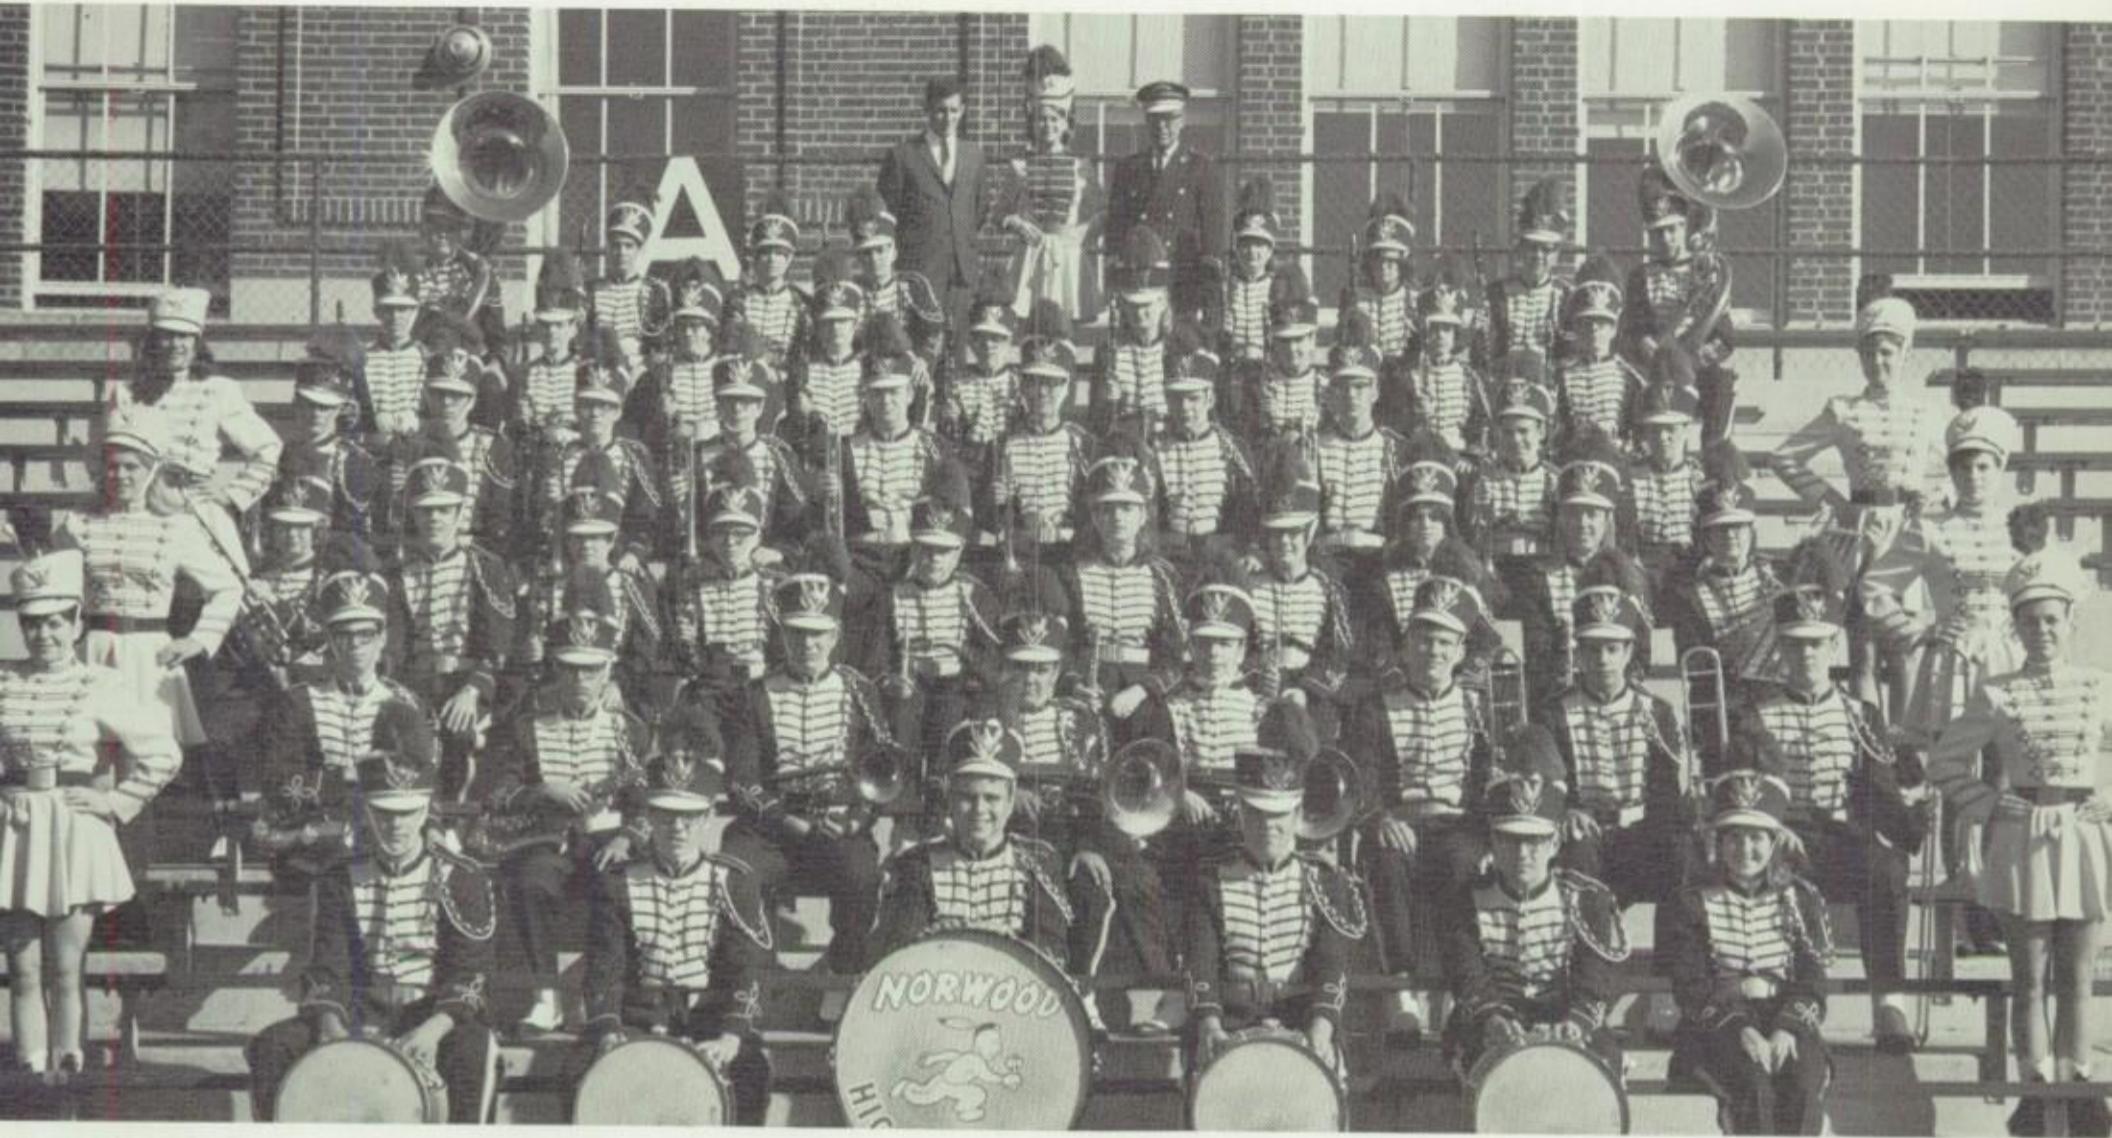

Variety was the spice that seasoned the repertoire of this year's lively, versatile singing group, the mixed ensemble. Old standards such as "Side by Side" combined with popular hits like "Georgy Girl" to appeal to audiences both young and old. Singing "just for fun" was a favorite pastime of ensemble members, but much of their talent was spent delighting audiences at school assemblies, civic clubs, and various other local organizations.

Band plays songs and Dave Martin arrangements.

"Band, mark time, march!" were the familiar shouts of band masters Mr. J. R. Phillips and Mr. D. W. Martin as the Norwood High School marching band practiced their songs and their routines from August until November. Doing two things at once was a feat mastered by the band members, and during the half-time of all the home and some of the away football games they played lively tunes from popular musicals while, led by the majorettes, they displayed many intricate formations. This year, in addition to the familiar school songs, the band also performed many numbers arranged by Mr. David Martin.

When the football season came to a close the marching band dispersed and a pep band, composed of nine boys, organized to play the school songs and jazz arrangements at the basketball games played on Norwood's floor. They also accompanied the routines of Precision Line.

The governing body of the band is the band council. The purpose of the council is to elect the officers of the band and to decide the policies the band should follow and the activities in which the band should participate. The band council for the 1966-1967 school year consisted of Jim Coy, president; Bruce Becker, vice president; Linda Stone, secretary; Karen Wode, librarian; Darrell Genton, manager; Steve Miller, and Jerry Scott.

games; both delegate active members to Hi-Y Teen Council.

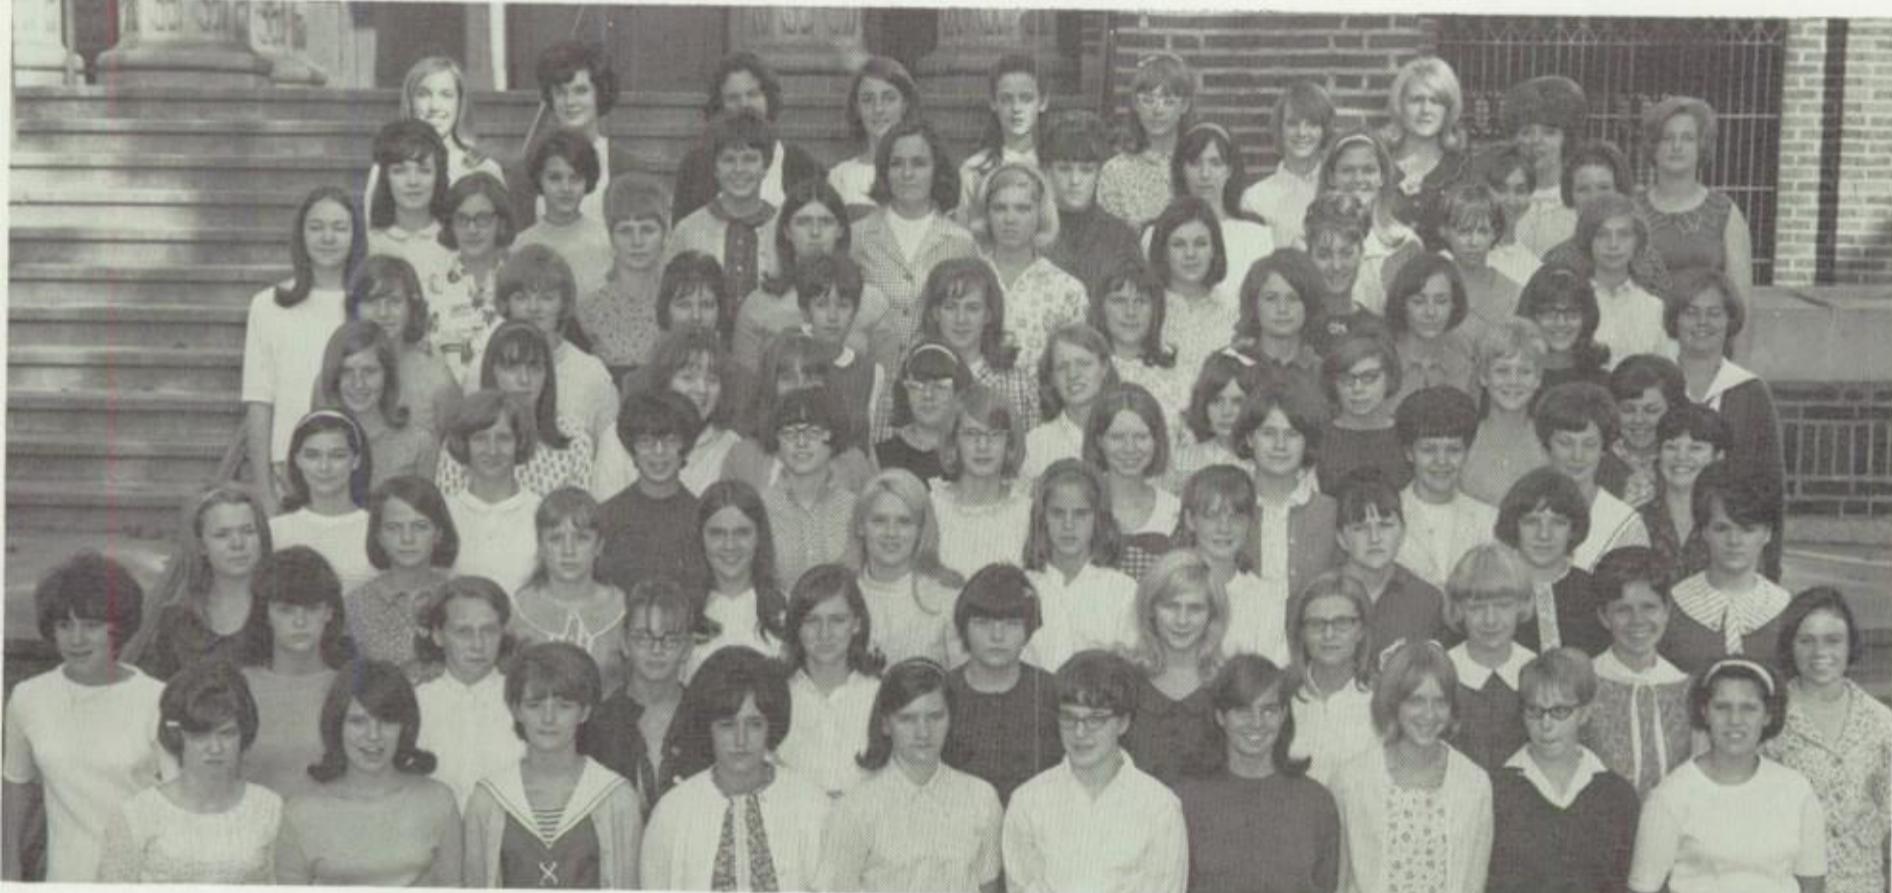

The "Y" groups this year took on a new look as each group worked independently of the others. The four organizations offered to students a variety of programs.

Delta Epsilon and Gamma Alpha Chi Y-Teens, comprised of Norwood High School girls, met semi-monthly to plan service projects and entertainment programs. A Christmas party given by Delta Epsilon brightened the holiday season for children at the Norwood Day Care Center. The industrious members of Gamma Alpha Chi prepared themselves a special Valentine's Day dinner to which they invited all women faculty. Sending fudge to Norwood boys in Vietnam and caroling at rest homes were other charitable functions.

The boys' "Y" groups, Alpha Sigma Kappa and Sigma Alpha Tau, participated in many YMCA activities, including the Hi-Y council, a basketball tourney, and statewide leadership programs.

The Hi-Y Teen Council, comprised of officers and representatives from each of the groups, met to coordinate the activities of the four clubs.

Feminine groups perform attractively during half-time.

Flashes of quivering red and blue glitter captured in the glare of spotlights announced the 1966-67 majorettes to the football game crowds. As the band struck its signaling chords, the audience shifted its gaze to the silver of dancing batons. The majorettes, guiding their wands with steady hands, complemented the half-time shows with performances of precision marching and twirling achieved through regular practice.

Injecting feminine influence into the masculine atmosphere of the basketball court, the Indianettes created half-time entertainment for the crowds at the basketball games. Attired in short red skirts, vests and complementing accessories, the twenty-eight girls of Precision Line portrayed toy soldiers, sailors, and chorus girls in routines devised by tri-captains Sharon Owens, Debby Everman, and Debbie Downs, and advisor Mrs. Susan Longaker.

Voting highlights week of enthusiastic campaigning.

A vote of confidence.

Running for a class office at Norwood is a unique experience in that it involves vigorous campaigning on the part of the candidate and his supporters. This year, following the nomination of candidates from the various political parties, all students became wrapped up in the action of Political Week.

On Monday morning of Political Week the ambitious supporters of each candidate arrived at school as early as seven-thirty to hang posters advertising the qualifications of the respective candidates in places where most students would see them easily. Who, of those who have helped plan a campaign, can ever forget those hilarious poster-making sessions with the cutting of pictures from magazines and the coining of clever slogans to catch the ear of the voters?

On Wednesday the candidates for class president had the opportunity to win votes by delivering a short campaign speech to their constituents at the political conventions. Following each candidate's speech, his supporters were permitted a brief demonstration of marching or sign-waving.

The highlight of Political Week came on Thursday and Friday when each of the students entered a voting booth and marked his ballot for the "best" officers of his class.

Crowning of radiant queens highlights traditional junior prom

Tension mounts as crowd awaits announcement of homecoming queen.

A promising theme idea developed through organization and originality brought success for the 1966 Junior Prom. "Twilight in Olympia" was the product of concentrated mental and physical work of industrious juniors. Transforming Ford Union Hall into a lush Greek garden fulfilled the Greek theme. Greek statues, flowing fountains, wine bottles, and grapes set the stage for the highlight of the prom, the crowning of Kay Rose, junior prom queen for 1966.

Although the rain dampened our football field on the night of our homecoming game, the weather did not quench the spirit of Norwood High School students. Loyal fans, soaked to the skin, sat through a game that ended with a heart-breaking defeat by Reading High School. A dance on Saturday evening sponsored by the Junior Class and the SILHOUETTE staff featured the activities postponed from the rain-drenched night before. Climaxing the event was the crowning of the 1966-67 homecoming queen Kathy Doyle by Student Council president Gary Conley.

The excitement of getting ready for the prom is half the fun.

Large cast of seniors presents "The Man Who Came to Dinner".

Cries of "Break a leg!" resounded through the dressing room as members of the cast of The Man Who Came to Dinner nervously prepared to present to a packed house the finished product of weeks of taxing rehearsals. The announcement, "Standing Room Only" brought tears to the eyes of some, "butterflies" to the stomachs of all. Telegrams from friends and relatives added glamour to the already exciting experience which was for most a once-in-a-lifetime occurrence.

Not to be forgotten, however, was the performance of the essential crews. Under Mrs. Lindsay Buchy's watchful eye, the stage, property, and make-up crews combined their efforts with those of the cast to present a polished performance, marked by cooperation.

The financial success of the play was the least of the accomplishments; the pride felt by each actor and crew member as laughter and applause purged the former silence of the auditorium was a greater success. The senior class of 1967 gave to Norwood High School a memory far more lasting than money.

"I'm a little high, but I can explain everything."

Safe!

Angels of Crockfield.

Fifth annual musical production leaves Norwood's halls echoing with THE SOUND OF MUSIC.

A standing ovation greeted the "teary-eyed" cast of THE SOUND OF MUSIC as they returned to the stage to take their well-deserved final bows. The many weeks of frantic, almost desperate, preparation for the event found rich reward in the obvious appreciation of the audience. The hard work of cast and crew members was late to show its fruits, however, for dress rehearsal exhibited many technical problems still unsolved. These stage difficulties were alleviated through careful technical rehearsals, and costume problems also found answers with planning. Dramatic preparation for the show the last week concentrated on adding the polishing touches, but the night of the show provided the ultimate stimulation—an audience. Norwood High School's fifth annual musical production was indeed a success.

"I am sixteen going on seventeen, I know that I'm naive."

The marriage of an "ordinary couple."

"Loud was the voice of the lonely goatherd, Layee odl, layee odi oo!"

"Why did they send you back to us?"

Co-ed Week breaks tradition, combines boys' and girls'

Traditions shattered as table decorations and chili supper toppled into oblivion and a combined Boys' and Girls' Week rose in triumph to set new standards of excellence. Beginning on Sunday as "Youth Served the Church" and concluding on Saturday as Thespians presented the "American Theatre Dimensions," the week proved successful in its purpose—uniting the student body.

Co-ed Capers, the all-school talent show, created unforgettable memories of exercising female football players, dramatic actors, baton twirlers, comedians, and singers. Although they had only two rehearsals, the performers had a roaring success.

A planned greased pig chase, canceled at the suggestion of the S.P.C.A., gave way to tug-of-war that brought humiliation to the mighty seniors as the exuberant freshmen pulled them through the mud.

On Dress-Up Day, the auditorium bulged as 1400 students crowded in for the Awards Assembly. Posture Parade winner Darla Cox was honored. Basketball competition proved seniors and sophomores more able than their opponents who turned over traditional jugs to winners. Two trophies for outstanding contributions to Co-ed Week were awarded to Grethel Reese and Malcolm Clark.

Annual sophomore dance successfully develops Indian theme.

Courageous Indians bravely thwarted the powers of the evil spirits which had jinxed the evening of their sophomore class dance—April 1, the "day of all fools." Donning their warpaint the students taunted the curse traditionally associated with this unlucky date and emerged victorious. Centered around an appropriate theme "I'm an Indian too," last year's dance provided a challenge for all sophomores involved. Under the leadership of class president Larry Groves and the supervision of Mr. David Norcross, the group found its efforts successful because of committee teamwork.

The selection of a popular local band, the Manhattans, helped to draw the interest of the student body. The "legwork" of forty lovely Indian maids proved a spectacular attention-getter as the girls of the sophomore chorus line presented their "modern" interpretation of the ancient tribal dances to the recording "Apache." The highlight of the evening, the crowning of Diane Haggis and Larry Nice, best-all-around sophomores, brought a close to the festivities.

Chapter IV

Sports

"Water was splashing, and mud was flying, and oaths were being sworn, and blows were being struck"

Sports help to create the unifying spirit needed in every school. Through the spirit of competition, sports unify the players, moulding them into an effective team with a common objective. The players cease to ask for personal recognition and strive only for the glory of their team.

The cheerleaders serve to radiate the excitement of a fighting spirit from the team to the student body. Using their own enthusiasm, the cheerleaders aid the students in displaying their whole-hearted support to the team.

Although not an active part of the games, a responsive student body often determines the success or failure of their team. The student body is able to say "we" when referring to the team.

Win or lose, there is always great excitement as described in Dickens' "Great Expectations:" "Water was splashing, and mud was flying, and oaths were being sworn, and blows were being struck."

With funds raised by selling sweatshirts, this year "N" Club sponsored a basketball game between the WSAI "Freakish Five" and the Norwood faculty. The club also contributed to a scholarship fund and donated a plaque in the fieldhouse recognizing all-county track winners.

Freshman Football

Although Norwood's freshman football team went without victory, Coach Engle felt that the boys played very well considering that they faced several handicaps. The greatest disadvantage of the frosh team was that the boys came from eight grade schools and had previously played against each other. Other schools in the league have junior high teams which allowed the boys to play together for two or three years.

New coaches emphasize "Pride", prove victory not essential.

"...and that catfish was just about this long."

PRIDE, the maxim of the 1966-67 varsity football squad, depicted the attitude held by the team which transmitted an unusual enthusiasm to the rest of the student body. A newly-sodded gridiron, award stars, plaques and trophies for outstanding play, and a special recognition board displaying the best players of the week gave the team extra incentive. Although winning only three of the ten games and ruining the treasured green of the field of play, they never lost the most important element of competition—the fighting spirit.

A new staff consisting of head coach Donald Daly and Mr. Patrick Orloff injected into the training program discipline stricter than in previous years by advocating mental as well as physical competency on the playing field. The results of the long hours spent in grueling practice came with the selection of three Norwood players for the Hamilton County Suburban League team. Paul Neppes, Tom Hatfield, and Richard Robb received this distinction. Halfback Paul Neppes was chosen by the coaching staff to be awarded the "Most Outstanding Player" trophy.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

Hustle, team pride, and school spirit this year spelled "victory for Norwood High," as the varsity roundballers finished the 1966-67 basketball season with a 12-9 record. Entering the tournament with an even mark, the team rallied to oust New Richmond, Moeller, and Courter Tech High Schools from tournament play to finish in the district semi-finals. Defeat at the hands of LaSalle High School concluded varsity play for the season, but the defeat was trivial compared to the greater victory for the cause of school unity. Only dedication and school pride could have prompted the many posters proclaiming "Our team is still great" after the final defeat.

Individual excellence contributed immensely to the success of the team, who, led by coach Herb Gardner, accomplished more than any previous Norwood squad. Averaging 25.4 points per game, Mike Calhoun, the leading Cincinnati area high school scorer, merited special recognition in the form of two trophies honoring him for best offensive play and the greatest number of rebounds. The retirement of his jersey number 22 and a plaque commemorating his achievements paid fitting tribute to the athlete. Other trophies were awarded to senior Paul Neppes and junior Jack Bouldin for their outstanding contributions to the varsity.

Big Brother's watching you!

Reserve Basketball

A capable coach plus an enthusiastic group of talented and hard-working players equalled a successful season for Norwood's reserve basketball team this year. Under the careful direction of their coach, Mr. William Frazier, the boys practiced diligently day in and day out with a common goal in mind—a winning team. They attained that goal by winning thirteen games while losing only four and by placing third in their league.

Freshmen Basketball

Scrappy freshmen gave Norwood High School a hopeful outlook for future reserve and varsity basketball activity by finishing the season earning second place in the league. Coached by Mr. Ray Ross, the papoosees coupled quick thinking and muscular coordination to outwit their opponents for a final 9-4 seasonal record. Doug Cochran received the trophy honoring him as the "Most Outstanding Freshman Player."

VARSITY BASEBALL

Last spring Norwood's varsity baseball players' dream came true when they played McNicholas at Crosley Field. Although McNicholas defeated Norwood, the Indians' spirit was unbeatable. Finishing the season with high hopes, the team placed second in the league.

RESERVE BASEBALL

Although the '66 reserve baseball team finished the season with a record of three wins and four losses, Coach Jay Geiser felt the record was not indicative of true team potential. Highlighting the season was the defeat of the invincible Moeller reserves.

CROSS COUNTRY

The '66 cross country squad was undefeated in its regular season. In Hamilton County league competition, the varsity placed tenth among sixteen other schools, and the reserves finished eighth.

Coach Gardner reported that next year's outlook is promising as only four of the twenty-five members will be leaving, and only one of the four is a runner.

1966 TRACK

With the arrival of spring, Norwood's 1966 track team was off and running. Under the direction of Richard Pardini and Gary Jump, all runners trained and competed with determination. Although the varsity squad did not win any of its meets, the reserves went undefeated.

Golf

In the spring of the '66 season, the golf team, coached by Aaron Gerrard, plunged into the Hamilton County League Tournament with high hopes. Although the boys won only two of their seven matches, they played with spirit true to Norwood High tradition.

Wrestling

Coach Patrick Orloff, a newcomer to Norwood, found eager grapplers ready to test their skill and strategy while attempting to perfect their own physical fitness through many hours of grueling practice. Although hopes for a winning season were dashed at the Southwestern Ohio district meet, the wrestling team felt the experience of the competition benefited them greatly because many are still underclassmen with time for success.

Fifteen enthusiastic cheerleaders boost students' morale.

Devotion to the spirit of competition, spiced with exuberant enthusiasm, moved the 1966-67 Varsity, Reserve, and Freshman cheerleaders to keeping pace with the Norwood football and basketball teams. Attempting to bolster student body morale, the fifteen girls yelled and cheered for both winning and losing teams. The cheerleaders faced the familiar problem of a lack of student interest by joining with Pep Club in organizing pep rallies.

Their enthusiasm was not restricted to the football fields or basketball courts, however. The making of posters, Indian heads, and teepees to decorate the fieldhouse and the selling of booster ribbons completed the cheerleaders' activities. Captains Linda Hertel and Nancy Lancaster and advisor Miss Betty Ware worked together to co-ordinate the routines of the squads and to determine financial management.

G.A.A. program offers active outlet for sports-minded girls.

"Come on, I dare ya!" rang out from a group of four freshmen stranded in the girls' gym on one cold November night. Reedy was determined to give it the old one-two. "Crash!" One can remember well the day the intercom in the girls' gym met its end. G.A.A. is an active activity composed of the spirit and enthusiasm needed for a good game.

The shout of, "Ground, sticks, charge!" and the crunch of oak leaves on the front lawn called the fall hockey season to session. "Keep those sticks down. What is this, war?" was the constant reply of the two courageous referees. When the wooden hockey ball met tough going in the snow, the girls retreated to their indoor home for a season of volleyball. Basketball season, following the Christmas holidays, showed bright red pinnies on the blue-decked players and ended with a clash of homerooms in the Girls' Week basketball tournament. Following the spring softball season, the girls returned to the front lawn for a good round of arrows. In addition to the seasonal sports, G.A.A. members enjoyed several year-round activities. The girls participated in tennis and hiking when the weather was favorable. Swimming also was offered.

Five points are awarded to any girl participating in a night's activity. With a sum of 100 points in any one sport, a girl receives a charm; with a total of 500 points, a "big N"; and with 1000 points, the G.A.A. ring.

G.A.A. OFFICERS: G. Reedy, President; L. Thomas, Vice President; D. Taylor, Secretary; J. Coyle, Treasurer.

Water babes learn by watching.

"... and the treasure chest should be buried right here!"

Watery ring-around-the-rosy.

A determined team is a successful team.

Energetic "N" girls take time out to pose for a picture.

"Pop art" is a corny business.

Up and over.

Keep your eye on the target.

"Alakazam one, alakazam two, over the hoop and through."

"Who's winning?"

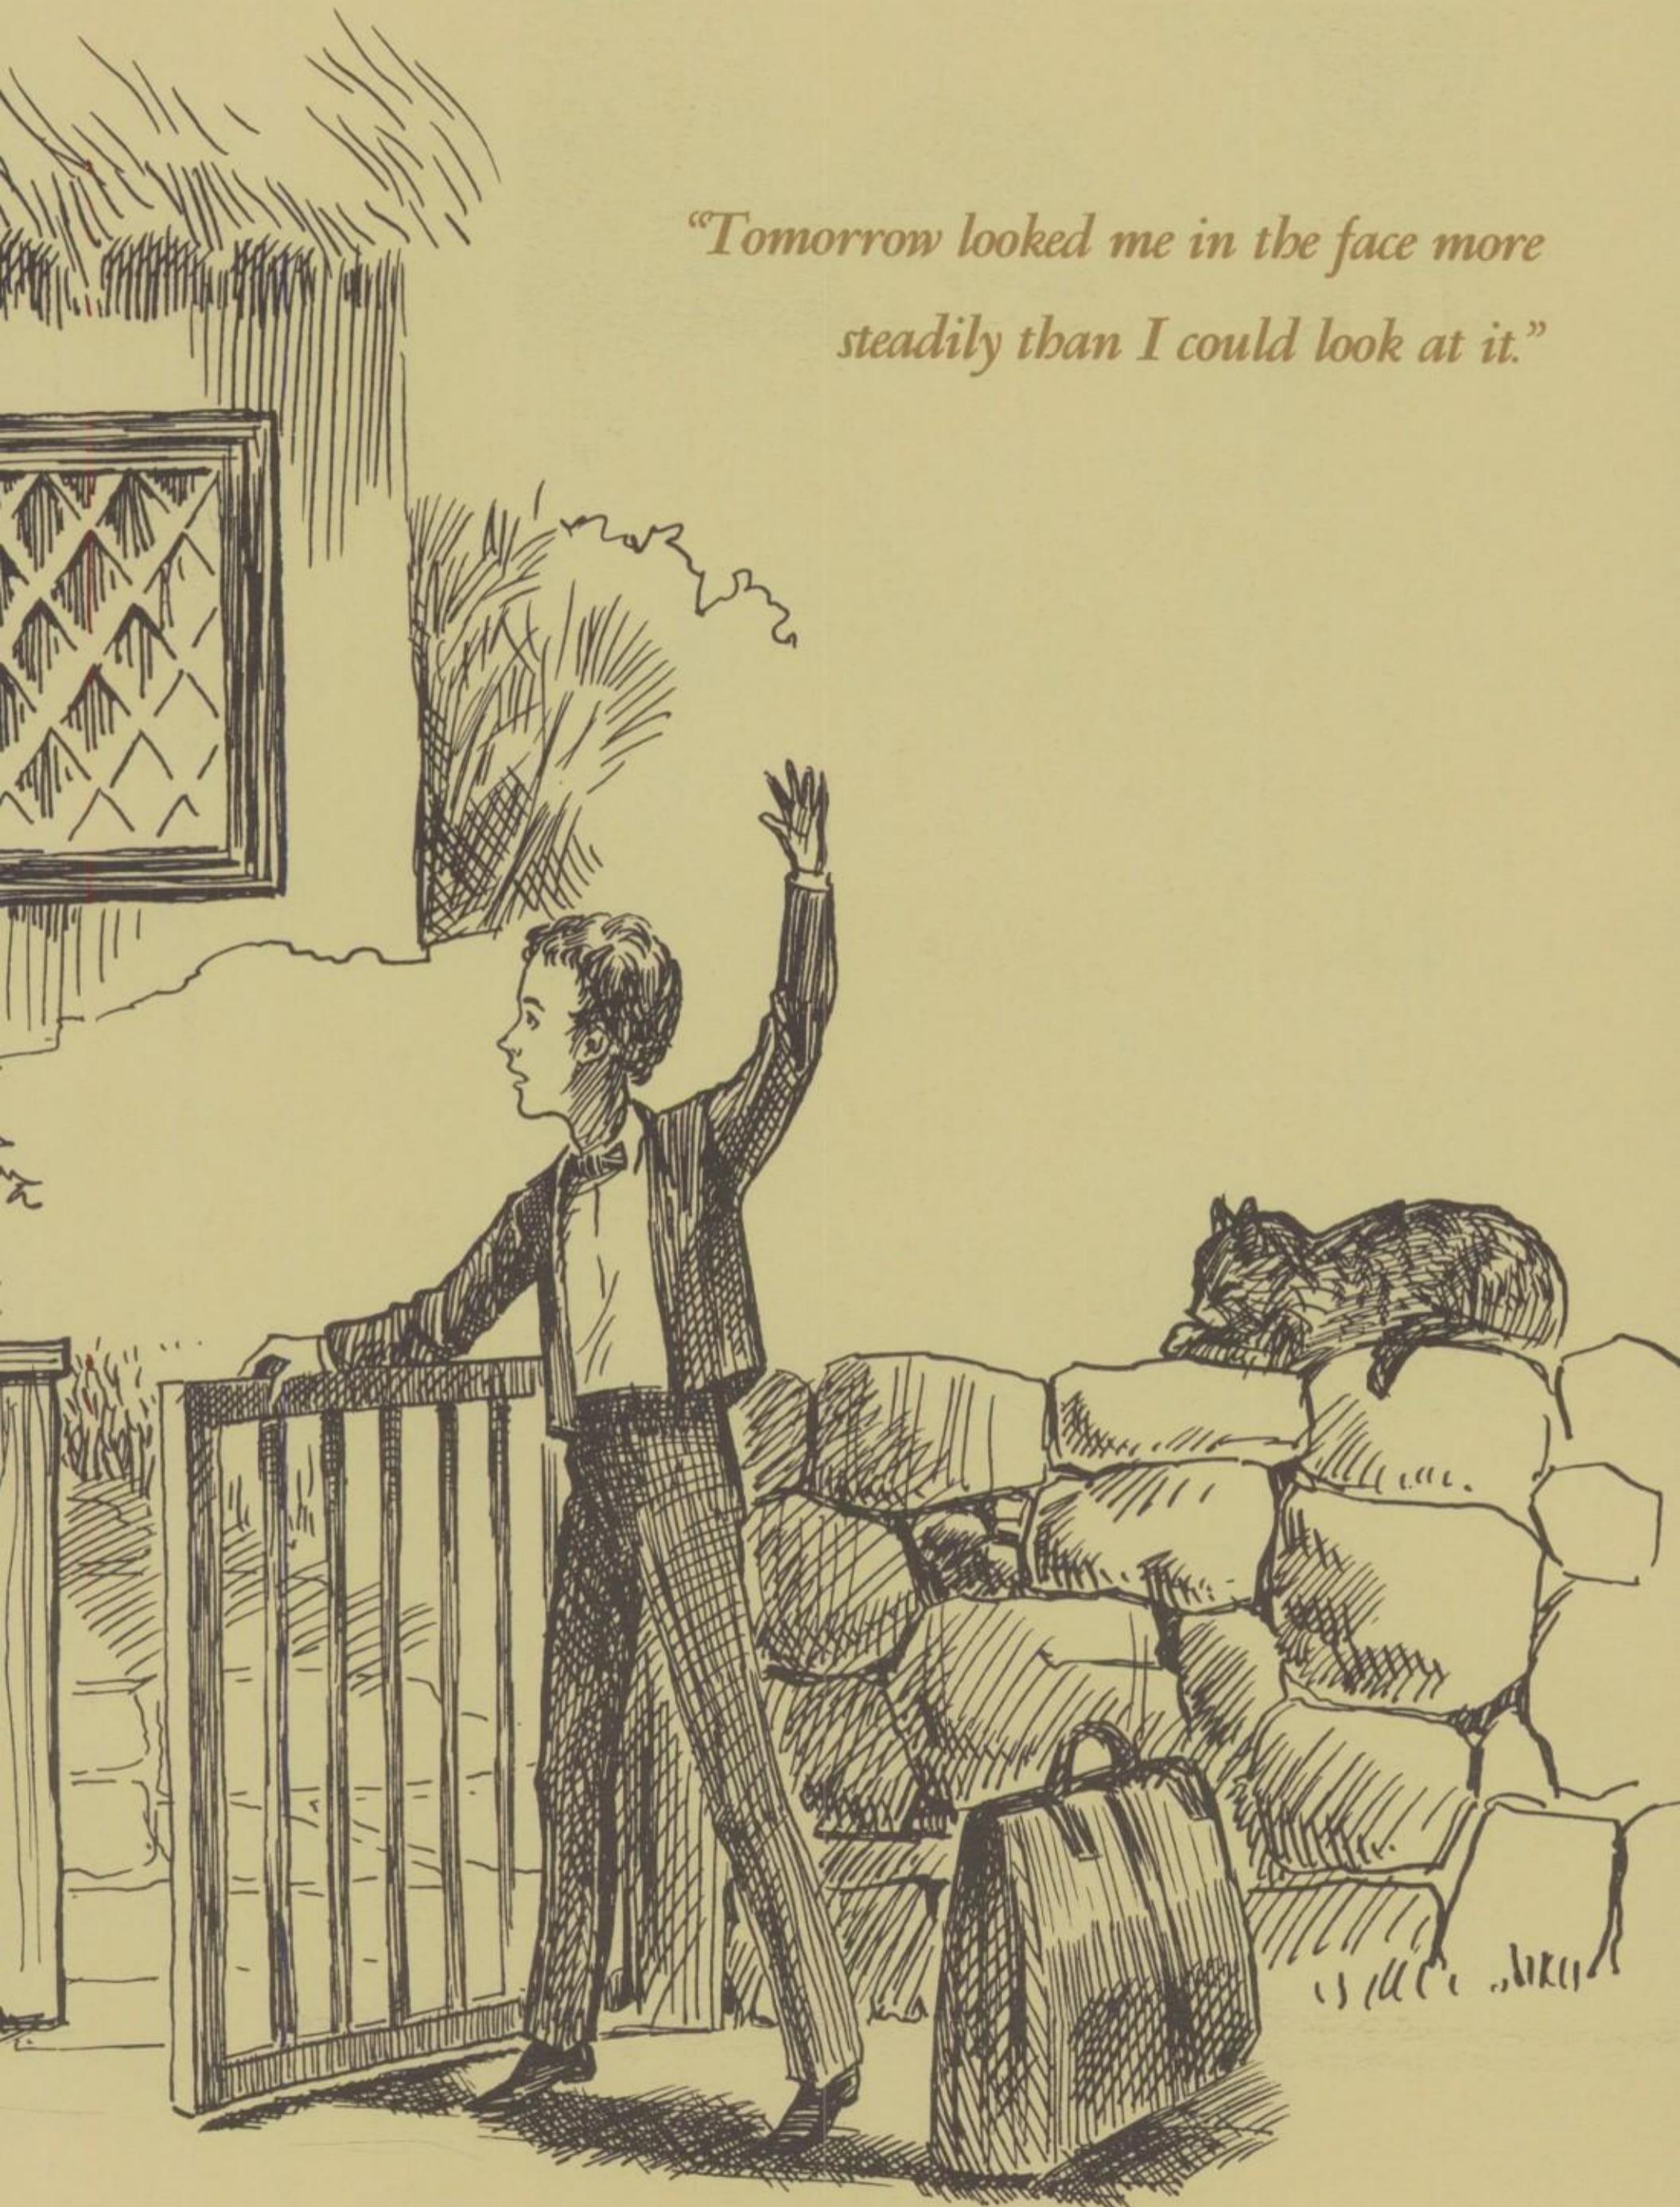

Chapter V

Students

"Tomorrow looked me in the face more steadily than I could look at it."

The four years of high school follow each other in rapid succession. Students do not realize how quickly these years pass until they are on the threshold of graduation. Many times as freshmen students think graduation an event far in the future, and they do not plan or think ahead because they feel as Pip did, "Tomorrow looked me in the face more steadily than I could look at it." However, the four years of high school can be one of the greatest periods of life for students.

The insecure freshman year is one of awakening and stumbling while a student tries to find his place in a new world. The sophomore year brings a feeling of superiority, because freshmen are now looking up to these students as upperclassmen.

With the junior year, students begin to find themselves and to become active in school functions.

When the senior year finally creeps up on students they have finally become secure in the high school world only in time to lose this security to graduation and the future.

SENIORS

The class of 1967 proudly

Donna and Tom on the ladder of success.

Patty and Wayne have all the right connections.

Janet and Gary wheelin' their usual load of books.

Seniors possessing an overabundance of certain desirable attributes received recognition through their nominations for senior superlatives. Nominated by the senior advisory council, the students were elected for their respective titles by the senior class.

"Best students" Janet Zimmerman and Gary Conley proved the rewards of scholastic achievement. Senior class officers Donna Moerlein and Tom Hatfield exemplified the combined traits of leadership and scholarship in their election in the "most likely to succeed" category. Actress Kathy Doyle and trumpeter Jim Coy were voted "most talented" for their many stage performances. Active G.A.A. enthusiast Linda Thomas and football-basketball star Paul Neppes represented the "most athletic" seniors. Endowed with a rare talent for ad-lib, Joyce Gover, the "cosmo clown," and Tim Spurlock, the ham of the Senior Class Play, achieved "wittiest" recognition. Well-known faces were personable Patty Spears and Wayne Roberts, the "friendliest" seniors.

Although recognizing only a few worthy seniors, the senior superlatives characterize the many faces of the class of 1967.

presents its choice of twelve senior superlatives.

Linda and Paul display the spirit of competition.

Joyce and Tim exercise their funny bones.

Jim teaches Kathy to give his kind of performance.

Class of 1967 exemplifies adage "quality, not quantity."

Class unity was the idealistic lodestar around which diplomatic senior class president Tom Hatfield attempted to center the activities of the Class of 1967. Democratic planning on the part of class officers and representatives to the senior advisory council functioned for the benefit of all senior class members. "Equality" proved to be more than a meaningless cliche casually tossed around during the political campaign for effect; it represented an ideal made a reality through cooperation.

This concern for unity of purpose grew, however, from individuality. Timid strangers to Norwood High School, as freshmen the students were preoccupied with making names for themselves. To be "in" they hurried to join many extra-curricular activities, such as academic, athletic, and musical groups. As sophomores, under female leadership, they still searched for individual identification; however, they joined for the first time in planning a successful sophomore class dance. The greatest triumph for the class effort came with the junior prom. Juniors forgot, for a time, personal gains as they donated their talents toward the perfection of "Twilight in Olympia."

With the ties firmly bound, the Class of 1967 had a firm foundation for the winning of respect. As seniors they distinguished themselves on the SILHOUETTE and the Mirror staffs. Athletic competition yielded a victorious basketball team comprised of several outstanding seniors. The Senior Class Play provided excellent opportunity for the class to "show its stuff." The greatest attendance record and the most telegrams received instilled in cast members incentive, which was rewarded with thunderous applause. The first Thespian production, "American Theatre Dimensions" spotlighted many seniors on the stage again, as did the spring musical, "THE SOUND OF MUSIC". Nearly every activity in the school boasted senior leaders.

From a motley collection of individual talents was molded the unity of this senior class. Certainly individuals will be remembered for their own outstanding achievements, but their association will always lie with the Class of 1967.

IN MEMORIAM

Out, out brief candle!
Life's but a walking shadow, a poor player,
That struts and frets his hour upon the stage,
And then is heard no more.

Shakespeare

The loss of two of our fellow classmates, Rita Beilschmidt and Bruce Van Winkle, has left a deep impression on the Class of 1967. Through their deaths we have realized that life is precious and that it can be "snuffed out" in a moment. Although they are not physically present, their memory will continue to live with us.

QUOTATIONS TO LIVE BY

When you're through learning, you're through

A heel never toes the line.

Your opportunity is NOW not tomorrow.

He can who thinks he can.

A man wrapped up in himself makes a very small package.

Do the right thing and you will please some people
—and astonish the rest.

Life is like a bicycle—stop pedaling and you fall off.

Give 100% all the time.

Success depends on backbone, not wishbone.

Teamwork + spirit and hardwork = success.

Congratulates the graduates of 1967

In the past year we have had federal regulation of auto safety standard, more miles of new and improved roads than ever before and 50,000 automobile deaths—half from drunken driving.

When Earth's last highway is builded—graded, hot-topped and signed,
With every physical feature carefully planned and designed
And every safety improvement to keep highway users alive
We'll still kill motorists wholesale,
'Till we learn we can't drink and drive.

An end

or a beginning?

There was a time when a high school diploma could be considered an end — sufficient education for the job ahead. But no more. Not in these days of ever-advancing technology and intense individual competition. Now, whether you're planning on a white-collar or blue-collar job, the requirements are much the same — more knowledge, more skills, more education. And that means study beyond high school.

The decision is yours. Make it carefully, for it will probably be the most important one you'll ever make. We at Allis-Chalmers hope it will be for further study. Deeply involved in space-age technology ourselves, we know first-hand the crucial importance of special skills and education. Just as you will, in the future—when it counts.

WHO OWNS C.G.&E.?

Of the 36,703 owners of CG&E common stock how many would you guess are women?

12%  24%  42%

2.

How many universities, insurance companies, banks, churches, etc., are CG&E shareholders?

58  215  1979

3.

How many of CG&E's 4600 active employees are shareholders?

125  630  1528

If you checked the third answer in every case above, you are absolutely correct. Lots of people own CG&E directly and indirectly. Including quite a few young people like yourself. And we wouldn't be surprised at all if your parents turned out to be CG&E shareholders. Which means that all of us have a big stake in this area . . . in seeing it grow and prosper . . . and in making sure there will always be plenty of gas and electric power to help it grow.

AN OPEN LETTER

Clifton Cushman is a lieutenant in the Air Force. He was second in the 400-meter hurdles at the Rome Olympics in 1960 and had hoped to reach Tokyo for the 1964 games. He never made it. Cushman hit a hurdle in the U.S. team trials and fell down.

The race, held in Los Angeles, was on national TV and was seen by Cushman's friends in Grand Forks, N.D., his home town, and Lawrence, Kan., where he attended college.

Cushman could have felt sorry for himself, but didn't. Instead, he sat down and wrote a letter to the youth of his home town. His letter was printed in the Grand Forks Herald and Lawrence Journal-World.

Note: Lt. Cushman has been missing in action over North Viet Nam since Dec., 1966.

An Open Letter to Youth:

Don't feel sorry for me. I feel sorry for some of you! You may have seen the U.S. Olympic Trials on television. If so, you watched me hit the fifth hurdle, fall and lie on the track in an inglorious heap of skinned elbows, bruised hips, torn knees, and injured pride, unsuccessful in my attempt to make the Olympic team for the second time.

In a split second all the many years of training, pain, sweat, blisters and agony of running were simply and irrevocably wiped out. But I tried! I would much rather fail knowing I had put forth an honest effort than never to have tried at all.

This is not to say that everyone is capable of making the Olympic Team. However, each of you is capable of trying to make your own personal "Olympic Team" whether it be the high school football team, the glee club, the honor roll, or whatever your goal may be.

Unless your reach exceeds your grasp, how can you be sure what you can attain? And don't you think there are things better than cigarettes, hot-rod cars, school dropouts, excessive make-up, and duck-tail grease-cuts?

Over 15 years ago I saw a star—first place in the Olympic Games. I literally started to run after it. In 1960 I came within three yards of grabbing it; this year I stumbled, fell and watched it recede four more years away.

Certainly, I was very disappointed in falling flat on my face. However, there is nothing I can do about it now but get up, pick the cinders from my wounds, and take one more step followed by one more and one more, until the steps turn into miles and the miles into success.

I know I may never make it. The odds are against me but I have something in my favor—desire and faith.

Romans 5:3-5 has always had an inspirational meaning to me in this regard. ". . . We rejoice in our sufferings, knowing that suffering produces endurance, and endurance produces character, and character produces hope, and hope does not disappoint us. . . ."

At least I am going to try.

How about you? Would a little extra effort on your part bring up your grade average? Would you have a better chance to make the football team if you stayed an extra 15 minutes after practice and worked on your blocking?

Let me tell you something about yourself. You are taller and heavier than any past generation in this country. You are spending more money, enjoying more freedom, and driving more cars than ever before, yet many of you are very unhappy.

Some of you have never known the satisfaction of doing your best in sports, the joy of excelling in class, the wonderful feeling of completing a job, any job, and looking back on it knowing that you have done your best.

I dare you to have your hair cut and not wilt under the comments of your so-called friends.

I dare you to clean up your language.

I dare you to honor your mother and father.

I dare you to go to church without having to be compelled to go by your parents.

I dare you to unselfishly help someone less fortunate than yourself and enjoy the wonderful feeling that goes with it.

I dare you to become physically fit.

I dare you to read a book that is not required in school.

I dare you to look up at the stars, not down at the mud, and set your sights on one of them that, up to now, you thought was unattainable.

There is plenty of room at the top, but no room for anyone to sit down.

Who knows? You may be surprised at what you can achieve with sincere effort. So get up, pick the cinders out of your wounds and take one more step.

I dare you.

Sincerely, Clifton E. Cushman

In Great Expectations Dickens aptly illustrates the sentiments of this year's graduating seniors, "It's the end of May, tomorrow is the first of June." Graduation from high school brings a decisive end to an important chapter in the "Book of Life."

Just as the chapter of high school life closes for the seniors of 1967, it will close again for next year's seniors and continue to close each year.

However, the "Book of Life" is not yet completed, for there are new and better chapters yet to be lived and written.
